

St. Anthony's Little Church

Jesus said "In those days, the Son of Man, will send the angels to coming in the clouds with great power and glory, gather his chosen from the four winds, from the ends of the world to the ends of heaven.
Fr. Peter

Find eternity in each moment

We live in a world of passing things, where everything changes, nothing remains the same. The only thing that doesn't change is change itself! That's a hard lesson to learn. This is not meant as a threat. This is meant so that we grab onto this day, we grab onto this life and we appreciate that it is all gift and while we breathe it in we enjoy it and know that it is another moment of God. To be present to this moment and to live it fully is the only way to experience eternal life. The people who take this moment seriously take every moment seriously, and they already experience heaven. Heaven is whenever we taste life to its fullness, when we enjoy the moment, when we know that it is a gift from God and it will not last. And yet that very 'will not last' is an invitation to go deeper into the moment and touch upon that which lasts forever. If what we do doesn't lead us into an eternal now, an eternal moment, an always true moment, an always loved moment, then we have not lived the moment at all.

CAFOD in Lebanon

CAFOD ambassador, Julie Etchingham recently travelled to Lebanon to see the work of CAFOD and its partner Caritas Lebanon with the 'bread winner children' of Bekka. Brothers Yazan and Majed aged 10 and 11 and their family are refugees from the war in Syria. The brothers are unable to attend school due to having to work in a bakery helping to support the family. CAFOD and its partner Caritas Lebanon are helping as many children as they can to reclaim some of their childhood and an education. To read Julie's report visit blog.cafod.org.uk. Please keep all refugees and their families in your prayers.
