“You are the Christ, the Son of the Living God.”

‘Peter and Paul, despite their failures, or perhaps because of their failures, came to believe in the person of Jesus Christ, his message and his divinity.’ It is the faith of these two men upon which Jesus Christ builds His church. [1] ‘When we believe in Jesus Christ, we are believing in a being much bigger than the historical incarnation that we call Jesus. The historical Jesus is one man and Christ is not his last name. The Christ includes the whole sweep of creation since the beginning of time. We call this the Cosmic Christ. We live in a Christ-soaked world. This entire world is soaked through and through with Christ, with divinity. When we experience ‘the Christ’, we experience the always-present Christ, more than the time-bound Jesus.’ [2]

“Who do you say that I am?” ‘Who we say Jesus is has everything to do with who and how we are. In some ways our answer says as much or more about us than Jesus. It reveals how we live and what we stand up for. It guides our decisions and determines the actions we take and the words we speak. Jesus’ question isn’t so much about getting the right answer as it is about witnessing and testifying to God’s life, love, and presence in our lives and in the world. It is less about our intellect and more about our heart. It is grounded in love more than understanding. It moves us from simply knowing about Jesus to knowing him. In some sense there is no once and for all, finally and forever, answer. We are always living into the question. Who Jesus was for me when I was a child is different from who he was when I was in my 30s or who he is for me today. Hopefully, who he is for me next year will be different from who he is today. It’s not that Jesus changes. We do. We are constantly engaging in his question and in so doing, we not only discover Jesus anew we discover ourselves anew. [3]

‘Our journeys may not be as dramatic as that of Peter and Paul but if we are open to God’s gifts, we will experience the same conversion as they did. God meets us where we are and makes a healing and expanding presence known to us in the exact way we are most ready to experience it. That inner experience has social, economic and political implications. Contemplation (that inner experience), and action are forever connected and must never be separated.’ [2] ‘We don’t have to be perfect for God to work through us. God can work through us, faults and all, as he did with Peter and Paul.’ [4]

St. Anthony's Pram Club

Meets in the Annexe every Tuesday 1.30 till 3pm term time. It is a toddler group for new mums and babes and pre-school children. It is an opportunity for new parents to meet other new parents, for social, chat and play and is a good introduction to other groups held with in the Annexe, such as Playgroup, Pre-school, Guides, Brownies, Rainbows, Scouts, Cubs, Beavers, However, since Covid all these groups are struggling due to a lack of adult leaders, who have not got a small child to watch while they are playing. There fore I am asking if the people of St. Anthony's Parish can offer some help, some of the time/ all of the time, to make teas, help to set up or to tidy away, or just chat to people and make them feel welcome. Thank you. Ros Holland.

Wednesday Evening Group

We are now showing Series 4 of The Chosen in the Padua Room, Wednesdays at 7.00pm. Each session lasts around one hour. Come and try! All are welcome.

Approaching the General Election

As Catholics, caring for people in poverty and those who are marginalised is what matters the most. The general election is an opportunity to talk to politicians about the issues that matter to us and to call for just policies which can tackle poverty. Can you email your candidates? Can you attend hustings? Can you ask questions of candidates who knock on your door? Can you pray for fairness and justice?
